3.04 Attendance	Reviewed: October 12, 2010
	Revised:

The student is responsible for prompt attendance and participation in all scheduled class and laboratory sessions. Instructors may consider attendance in determining student achievement in their courses. Students should consult with the instructors and read course syllabi for any statements regarding attendance. However, absences cause by approved college activities (e.g. course field trips; athletic, club and student curricular organization competitions; required military service) are not counted in determining student achievement standards by outside board or state agencies.
