Kish College provides several opportunities for high school students to earn college credit while still in high school.

DUAL CREDIT – available at most in-district high schools, students take Kish courses at their own high school and credit earned satisfies requirements at both the high school and Kish.

DUAL ENROLLMENT – students are enrolled in Kishwaukee College courses while they are still in high school. Classes can be taken online or at Kish.

EMSA – a program for high school seniors to take college courses in math and science in the morning and return to their high school for the rest of the day. EMSA is an opportunity to earn 23-26 college-level credit hours that can transfer to most four-year institutions.

KEC – KEC dual credit classes are offered in partnership with participating area high schools for students enrolled in KEC programs.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) – Kish may award college credit for scores of a three or above on the AP exam.

Welcome to the Spring 2019 issue of Pride magazine.

At Kish, we have provided quality, affordable higher education to thousands of students over the past 50 years. We continuously seek opportunities to support students in making their educational goals a reality – including financial assistance.

In FY18, 42.2% of students received financial assistance to attend Kish. The Kishwaukee College Foundation provides over $300,000 in scholarships annually to students. Kish is fortunate to have generous donors helping make college more affordable for so many of our students.

Over a third of the recent high school graduates attending Kish in 2018 received a scholarship. Many of these students received the recently expanded Academic Achievement scholarship. High school seniors who graduate from local high schools this year with a GPA of 3.25 or higher and reside in the Kish district are automatically eligible for the scholarship. All students need to do is apply.

This issue of Pride focuses on scholarships and the impact they have on our students’ lives. A list of scholarships can be found within the pages of this issue, or please visit kish.edu/scholarships for additional information.

In addition to the amazing Kish stories, we have added College facts and data for the last fiscal year, combining the Pride magazine with a snapshot college annual report.

I hope you enjoy this issue of Pride!

Need $$$ for College?
One of the most impactful scholarships for students attending Kishwaukee College is the Chris and Katherine Boulos Foundation Scholarship. The Boulos Scholarship is awarded to DeKalb and Sycamore High School graduates attending Kish full-time.

Since the scholarship’s inception in 1993, over $1.9 million in scholarships has been awarded.

Chris Boulos was a Greek immigrant who owned and operated the first McDonald’s franchise in DeKalb with his wife, Katherine. Their franchise was one of the first 167 McDonald’s restaurants in the country when they opened doors at their Lincoln Highway location in 1960. Boulos was also the first Greek-American McDonald’s franchise operator. By 1965, their popular restaurant had sold its four-millionth hamburger.

After Chris passed away in 1981, Katherine became interested in local charities. Though the couple had no children of their own, they cared for their community deeply and wanted to give DeKalb and Sycamore students an opportunity to reach their full potential; thus, the Chris and Katherine Boulos Foundation was established.

The Boulos Foundation scholarship is awarded to deserving graduates of DeKalb and Sycamore High Schools who pursue college at Kish full-time. Many lives have been touched by their generous scholarship over the years. In 2018, the scholarship was awarded to 24 DeKalb High School seniors and 16 Sycamore High School seniors. The scholarship awarded as much as $3,100 to a recipient last year, with about $100,000 total awarded annually.

Chris and Katherine Boulos have both passed away, but their legacy lives on. Kish students have been touched by their generosity for over two decades and the College is proud to facilitate the Boulos’ desire to make higher education a reality for many.

Current Kish student Lauren Angel of DeKalb is one recipient of the Boulos scholarship this year. She said the scholarship has allowed her to earn her associate degree and avoid the stress of student loans. “I’m so thankful for this scholarship,” said Lauren. “and the Boulos Foundation is an asset to our community, allowing local students to pursue their college degrees from their hometown.”

Qualifications for the Boulos scholarship include: graduating from DeKalb or Sycamore High School; attending Kishwaukee College full-time; having financial need; and completing an application. For more information and to apply visit www.firstmidwest.com/wm_scholarships/

Meet Cris Luna

Local Talent

DeKalb HS Alum is Giving Back

Cristopher Luna Trujillo (Cris) may be just 20 years old, but he is wise beyond his years. Despite a tumultuous path following his dreams, he’s learned the key to persevering. “You can never give up – no matter the struggles in your life – never stop trying,” Cris said, emphatically.

The DeKalb High School alum has never lost sight of his dreams: to graduate high school and attend college. But the future wasn’t always so bright.

DeKalb HS Alum is Giving Back

The Kish Student Outreach team. As part of the team, Cris leads campus tours for prospective students and their families.

Cris shown here with Jesus Romero. Cris received the Jesus Romero Hispanic Endowment at the Donor Luncheon at Kish.

On Kish’s campus, Cris is a recognizable face, as he’s involved in many activities. He is a student ambassador and employed with the Student Outreach Office, touring prospective students around campus and sharing his valuable Kish knowledge. Cris is also the President of Latinos Unidos, an organization that promotes awareness of various Latino/Hispanic cultures while serving as a support system for members of the Latino/Hispanic community.

After earning his associate degree, Cris plans to transfer to Northern Illinois University to finish his teaching degree. Following college graduation, he’d like to stay local. “My dream job would be to go back to DeKalb High School and teach and coach there,” Cris said with a grin on his face, “I think it’s important to give back to the community that helped me.”

While waiting to hear about the status of his scholarship applications, more bad news hit: his mother lost her job of 15 years. “My world fell apart,” Cris recalled, “I didn’t know if I’d be able to go to college.” Thankfully, good news arrived a few weeks later: Cris was awarded two scholarships from the Foundation. On scholarship night, he discovered that he received three more. “It was the happiest moment of my life,” he beamed, remembering the evening.

With graduation and college acceptance checked off his goals list, Cris began working on his next goal: becoming a teacher. Cris began pursuing his Associate in Science degree at Kish in Fall 2016. Currently, he is completing clinical studies at Clinton Rosette Middle School as part of an Education course.

Cris has been working with a study hall class and feels a special connection. He remembers being a young student and how hard it was, especially due to a learning disability that he has had to overcome. Cris promises the students that, “the road is hard right now and this might not even be the worst part, but you’re going to make it through.” Several students have told him that his future classes will be lucky to have him as a teacher, a compliment that helps Cris know he’s on the right path.

Cris’s parents moved to the United States of America from Mexico when he was ten months old. For much of his life, his home was stable. In 2014, Cris’s life dramatically shifted. His father left and moved back to Mexico, leaving Cris, his mother, and his brother behind. Cris’s dreams seemed far away with the new financial stress of a single-parent household.

Following his father’s departure, Cris took on adult responsibilities to offset his future college expenses; he began to work with the permit he had through DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) while attending high school. He said the overwhelming experiences took a toll on him. He explained, “my junior year of high school was one of the hardest in my life.” But Cris pushed through and finished high school. Cris graduated in Spring of 2016, the first in his family to do so. Soon after, he received his acceptance letter to Kish. Cris described the moment as life changing.

His life seemed to be on the upswing and college dreams were within sight, but Cris received bad news that threatened his plans. Cris did not qualify for financial aid. His only option to pursue college was through scholarship assistance from the Kishwaukee College Foundation.

On Kish’s campus, Cris is a recognizable face, as he’s involved in many activities. He is a student ambassador and employed with the Student Outreach Office, touring prospective students around campus and sharing his valuable Kish knowledge. Cris is also the President of Latinos Unidos, an organization that promotes awareness of various Latino/Hispanic cultures while serving as a support system for members of the Latino/Hispanic community.

Following college graduation, he’d like to stay local. “My dream job would be to go back to DeKalb High School and teach and coach there,” Cris said with a grin on his face, “I think it’s important to give back to the community that helped me.”

Though the past few years were rocky, Cris has proved he can handle anything that comes his way. His relentlessly positive attitude is infectious and there’s no doubt he’ll accomplish exactly what he sets out to do in life.

Steve Irving may be known for constructing buildings, but at Kishwaukee College, he’s known for building up students. Steve has a longstanding relationship with Kish; he graduated from the College in 1971; served on the Foundation Board; and for almost two decades, has been a donor to the Foundation.

“Kishwaukee College has been very pivotal in my life,” said Steve. “Vietnam war protests were widespread at the time, even in the local community. In reaction to the turmoil, Steve said, “We tried to think of what could be done to create a better atmosphere for veterans and college students.”

They discovered their opportunity in a run-down barn on the College campus. Steve and Andy Peterson, a student veteran, put together an estimate of what barn renovations would cost. Steve presented the plan to transform the barn into a communal space for Kish students to the College Board of Trustees, who unanimously approved.

In the fall of 1970, construction began. All labor was donated; the veterans club, faculty and administrators, and other student organizations on campus worked nights and weekends to finish the project. Plumbing was donated by the plumber’s union in DeKalb and much of the lumber was donated by Pease Lumber of Malta. The barn was completed by spring of the following year. For ten years, it served as a gathering space, theatre, and was eventually equipped for classes. “It turned out to be a project worthy of what our original goal was,” said Steve, “to offset the negative things happening in the country.”

The barn project brought together the Kish College community. “It was remarkable,” said Steve as he recalled the trust administrators had in him as a 19-year-old student. “I owe much of my success to the experiences I had at Kish and the support that the whole staff and administrators had towards me,” he said. In some ways, the Irving Scholarship does for recipients what administrators did for Steve – gives an opportunity to build a new future. “My experience at Kish was life changing,” said Steve.

Thousands of students have laid the foundation for their careers at Kish College; some of them have been lucky to have help building their future from an expert in construction, Steve Irving.

Did you know?

Kish College provides several opportunities for high school students to earn college credit while still in high school.

DUAL CREDIT – available at most in-district high schools, students take Kish courses at their own high school, and credit earned satisfies requirements at both the high school and Kish.

DUAL ENROLLMENT – students are enrolled in Kishwaukee College courses while they are still in high school. Classes can be taken online or at Kish.

EMSA – a program for high school seniors to take college courses in math and science in the morning and return to their high school for the rest of the day. EMSA is an opportunity to earn 23-26 college-level credit hours that can transfer to most four-year institutions.

KEC – KEC dual credit classes are offered in partnership with participating area high schools for students enrolled in KEC programs.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) – Kish may award college credit for scores of a three or above on the AP exam.
