Faculty Presentation Speech: The organic chemistry award is given to an individual that has demonstrated academic excellence throughout the organic chemistry sequence (220/272 and 271/273). This year’s recipient is Caleb Vejvoda. Caleb went above and beyond on the expectations of an organic chemistry student. He not only achieved academic excellence in both 270/272 and 271/273; but also helped out his fellow students, simulated intellectual discussions, attended additional review sessions, and became a chemistry tutor. Caleb is truly deserving of this award and his chemistry professors want to extend their best wishes in his academic pursuits. We know he will achieve any goal he sets his mind to.
